UNDER MY SKIN

All her parents wanted was for Eryn to live a normal life...

Redgrave had its share of monsters before Eryn moved to town. Mauled pets, missing children. The Delacroix family is taking the blame, but Eryn knows the truth. Something stalks the night. Wade, the police chief's son and Redgrave High's resident hottie, warns her the Delacroix are dangerous. But then so is Eryn--in fact, she's lethal.

But she can't help falling for one of the Delacroix boys, dark, brooding--human --Alec. And then her world falls apart.

A normal life? Now that's the real fairytale.

Told in the first person, Under My Skin stars Eryn, dynamic, strong, and a little fragile as she fights her inner demons, caught between life as a werewolf and life as a human.

"It sounded too much like the screams I'd heard in my nightmares lately. Since my parents disappeared, I'd been having vivid, gory dreams about losing control, my wolvern side completely taking over."

About the Author

Judith Graves reads as much as she writes, devouring at least two books a week. She loves heated debates over character motives...she's been kicked out of several book clubs for just this reason. With her faithful sidekick at her feet-- Willow, a yellow lab--Judith remains unfazed by book club drama and is furiously writing more paranormal stories.

Working in a school library, Judith is surrounded by children's and young adult literature (there's no escape!). A singer/songwriter for more than 10 years, she often writes songs about her characters--since they are beasts of the night, this makes for interesting listening.

A firm believer that Canadian teen fiction can be sexy, action-packed and snarky as hell, Judith writes paranormal stories with attitude.

Residing in a northern Alberta community similar to the fictional town of Redgrave, where Under My Skin is set, Judith unhappily endures snow in the winter and runs away from bees in the summer.

“There I go again, “ Marcus said with a laugh, swiping at his puffy eyes. “ I swear it’s like I’m allergic to you, Eryn. It was the same thing when I met your mother. “ I grimaced. Unfortunately that was kind of true. Marcus was allergic to dogs. Poor guy, I’d been setting him off ever since I moved in, even though I tried to keep my distance.”
